1 Product Search in the Rexroth Store

In addition to navigating through the catalog, there is also the option to directly search for products or product groups. If you scroll all the way to the top of a webpage, the blue search box is always located in the top right corner. You will see the same search results displayed, regardless of where the blue search bar is used.

Product searches can be performed using a Rexroth material number (e.g., "R900561272"), product type designation (e.g., "pump," "valve," etc.), portions of a type code (e.g., "4WE6C6X"), or other catalog information, including filter values (e.g., "12 V") or segments of the product description (e.g., "piloted").

2 Result Categories

After entering a search term, users can first select the result category.

2.1 Products

In the first tab, under "PRODUCTS", individual products are displayed and can be filtered using the options on the left. Sorting, comparison, and watchlist functionalities are also directly available within the search results. Note that selecting a filter specific to one product type will remove all other product types from the results. For example, when searching for pumps and valves and applying the "left-turning" filter, only pumps will be displayed, as only pumps possess a direction of rotation."

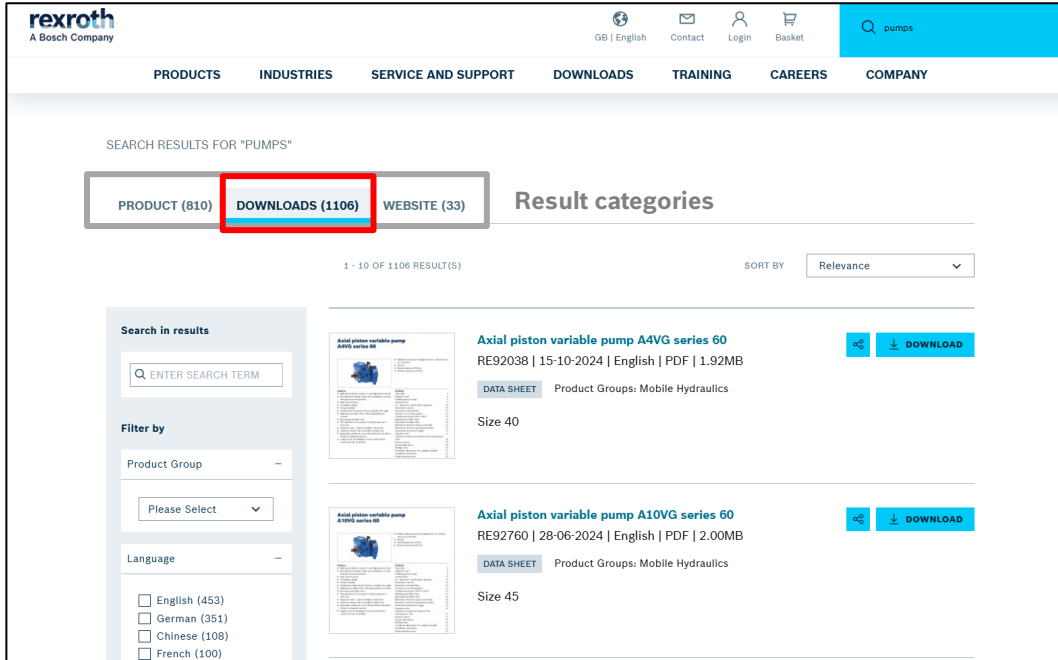

From the search results, the product page can be accessed by selecting the type code of a material number. Products can also be directly compared, added to a wishlist, placed in the cart in the desired quantity or if necessary, a product configuration can be initiated.
